

FRAGILITY AND HOPE IN A WORLD OF UNCERTAINTY

Published in Fragility and Hope in a World of Uncertainty in 2018 by Future Leaders (www.futureleaders.com.au)

About the authors

Associate Professor Grant Blashki

Grant Blashki is a GP and Associate Professor at The University of Melbourne. He has coedited five Future Leaders books on various health topics including ageing, genetics, mental health, and non-communicable diseases. Currently he is the lead clinical advisor of beyondblue, one of the leading mental health advocacy organisations in Australia. For the last decade, he has led a masters subject titled 'Environmental Challenges and Global Health' at The University of Melbourne.

Ms Mary Crooks AO

Mary Crooks is Executive Director of the Victorian Women's Trust, an organisation championing the rights of women and girls in the quest for gender equality. She chairs Fitted for Work, an organisation helping disadvantage women into meaningful work. Mary is ambassador for the Carlton Football Club and the Brunswick Women's Choir. In 2012 she received an Order of Australia and in 2016 won the Public Policy section of the Westpac/ Australian Financial Review 'One Hundred Women of Influence'.

Professor Emeritus Ian Gust AO

Ian Gust has had a distinguished career in public health, including involvement in the development of vaccines against hepatitis A and human papillomavirus infection. During his 20 years at Fairfield Hospital he built an internationally renowned research team, founded the Burnet Institute, established the National HIV reference laboratory, directed the NHMRC special unit for AIDS virology and several WHO collaborating centres. At CSL Ltd he transformed the research division into a powerful engine for growth.

Professor Julian Meyrick

Julian Meyrick is Professor of Creative Arts at Flinders University, Artistic Counsel of the State Theatre Company of South Australia, and a member of both Currency House editorial and CHASS boards. Previously he was Associate Director and Literary Adviser at Melbourne Theatre Company. Julian has written extensively on Australian theatre, and arts and cultural policy. His latest book, What Matters? Talking Value in Australian Culture, co-authored with Robert Phiddian and Tully Barnett, was recently published by Monash University Publishing.

Dr Benjamin Parr

Ben researched climate politics and policy at the University of Melbourne between 2008 and 2018. He was lead non-government policy coordinator behind the July 2017 Climate Leadership Declaration between Labor state governments. Ben has a PhD in Australian (national) climate policy and diplomacy. He researched the countries Al Gore believes are key to achieving the Paris Agreement goals. Ben has worked with and for Peter Christoff, Robyn Eckersley, Gareth Evans, Don Henry, David Karoly, among others.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Associate Professor Tilman Ruff

Tilman Ruff is Co-President, International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War (Nobel Peace Prize 1985); co-founder and founding Chair of the International Campaign to Abolish Nuclear Weapons (ICAN), awarded the 2017 Nobel Peace Prize 'for its work to draw attention to the catastrophic humanitarian consequences of any use of nuclear weapons and for its groundbreaking efforts to achieve a treaty-based prohibition of such weapons'. Tilman is Associate Professor in the Nossal Institute for Global Health, The University of Melbourne.

Dr Helen Sykes AM

Helen Sykes is the Director of Future Leaders, President of the Trust for Young Australians, Vice President of the Council for the Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences, Member of the Future Justice Executive, Summit Governor of the Hillary Institute and Board Member of the Public Interest Journalism Foundation and Melbourne Forum. She has published and edited many books

Dr Janna Thompson

Janna Thompson is a professorial fellow in the Department of Philosophy and Politics at La Trobe University. She is the author of numerous books and articles including Intergenerational Justice: Rights and Responsibilities in an Intergenerational Polity (Routledge, 2009) and Taking Responsibility for the Past: Reparation and Historical Injustice (Polity, 2002).